Construction Of Temporary Road Planned

Cresco—The Route 90 traffic detour will be "off by June 1"—weather permitting—Lee B. Marks said last night.

Marks, who holds the "closed job" contract for construction of a bridge over the DL&W railroad tracks at Cresco, told The Daily Record:

"A temporary road will be built alongside the new construction. The temporary route will mean that motorists will be able to go straight through Cresco to Mountainhome and other nearby points by June 1."

Construction of the temporary road will be made at State expense, Marks said. No estimate of the cost of the construction will be available until next week, according to the contractor.

Marks said he had conferred with State Highway Department officials yesterday. During that conference the timetable of operations was worked out, he said.

The temporary road will remain in use until construction of the railroad bridge is completed.

Until June 1, Marks said, "a temporary detour from Cresco station to Mountainhome" will be in effect.

If weather conditions remain favorable during May, Marks said, the detour will be needed "only until the first of June."

To construct the temporary route, Marks indicated his workmen would deposit "earth and stone" along the present Route 90. The bypass would extend only beyond the construction work, then traffic would turn back on the regular route.

The announcement by Marks, a Jonesboro, Pa. contractor, came on the heels of rapidly-breaking developments in the current construction job.

The Marks firm had originally estimated a Route 90 detour would stay in effect until the job was completed in late July. State Highway Department officials had previously said, however, that the highway should not be closed beyond the end of May.

Indications that the road might be closed during the heavy-tourist summer months brought protests from Barrett Township resort owners. The route was closed throughout the summer during 1953.

Barrett hotelmen estimated they lost a half-million dollars in business during that summer alone. To extend such a blockade over a second summer would make their business situation even worse, the resort owners indicated.

The resort owners examined the construction site; came up with a "possible solution." Businessmen in the area suggested a "temporary bypass" to permit free flow of traffic.

Electrical Lifesaver Demonstrated

Shamokin (AP)—Peter A. Sosnoski placed the ends of two live wires in his mouth yesterday, stepped into a bathtub filled with water up to his ankles—and nothing happened.

Sosnoski, 39-year-old Shamokin electrical worker, was giving the second formal demonstration of his new invention called the "electrical lifesaver."

The two wires were dropped from the ceiling of an unfinished home and carried at different stages 220, 500 and 2300 volts of electricity, according to an attached volt meter.

The invention, which Sosnoski says can be hooked up to any electrical system, is designed to prevent shock and protect homes from fire.

It also will automatically shut off the electrical output whenever the system is grounded accidentally, he said.

Some 25 invited guests, including representatives of the Pennsylvania Bureau of Mines, mining companies and officials of industrial concerns, attended the demonstration. Sosnoski says the device, attached near the central switch box of any electrical system, will make electricity 100 per cent safe.

Road Program To Set Record

Harrisburg (AP)—This year will see a record set for highway improvement expenditures, Highway Secretary E. L. Schmidt predicted yesterday.

The department head reported to Gov. John S. Fine that $26,616,000 went toward road improvement during the first four months of the year. This topped last year's record $24,916,000 for the same period.

"Thus the Highways Department is accelerating the pace established in all-time record-breaking 1953 when $136,011,000 was expended for these much needed improvement items," Schmidt said in a statement.

McCarthy Won't Say Who Gave Him Letter

Senator Takes Witness Stand At Hearing

Washington (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy took the witness stand yesterday and, in dramatic sworn testimony, refused to name an Army intelligence officer who, he said, gave him secret FBI material warning of Russian spy danger at Ft. Monmouth, N. J., three years ago.

Roaring his refusal before a tense throng of spectators at a televised hearing, the Wisconsin senator told Army Counsel Joseph N. Welch:

"Neither you nor anybody else will get me to violate the confidence of loyal people . . . You can try until doomsday."

Welch reminded McCarthy of his oath to "tell the whole truth" and implied him to do so. But McCarthy stuck to his position and was upheld by Sen. Mundt (R-SD), acting chairman of the investigating subcommittee.

McCarthy's first appearance as witness provided one of the highlights of the 10-day-old airing of his row with high Pentagon officials.

It was McCarthy's day in another respect, too.

He established, through FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, that the secret material in question was a condensed version—mostly word for word—of a spy warning the FBI sent to Army intelligence Jan. 26, 1951.

The Army lawyer had challenged McCarthy's version of this material—in the form of a letter purporting to be from Hoover—as a "perfect phoney."

Hoover sent word through a subcommittee aide that he never wrote such a letter. But after a recheck the aide, Robert A. Collier, said Hoover told him the letter was taken almost verbatim from a much longer FBI memo issued on that same 1951 day.

Then arose the question of where McCarthy got the letter.

With a showmanlike flourish, Special Counsel Ray H. Jenkins called out the name of his next witness: "Sen. McCarthy."

There was a gasp from the standing-room-only audience.

McCarthy glowered at Jenkins—said he'd be glad to take the stand but insisted on one thing: That all other senators in the inquiry be made to testify under oath, too, on the sources of their information.

Then while flashbulbs lit up and spectators strained forward to watch, McCarthy strode from the committee table to the witness chair, took the oath, and summoned aides Roy M. Cohn and Francis P. Carr to his side.

He said he waived any senatorial immunity he might have.

Then, when Jenkins asked him to say in his own words where the secret FBI data came from, McCarthy took the stand from which he never retreated:

"I will not under any circumstances reveal the source of any information I may get as chairman of this committee."

McCarthy is the regular chairman of the Senate Investigations subcommittee. He has stepped down from the post for purposes of these hearings.

McCarthy produced the letter in an effort to show that the Army dragged its feet in rooting out alleged subversives, although he said it had ample warning.

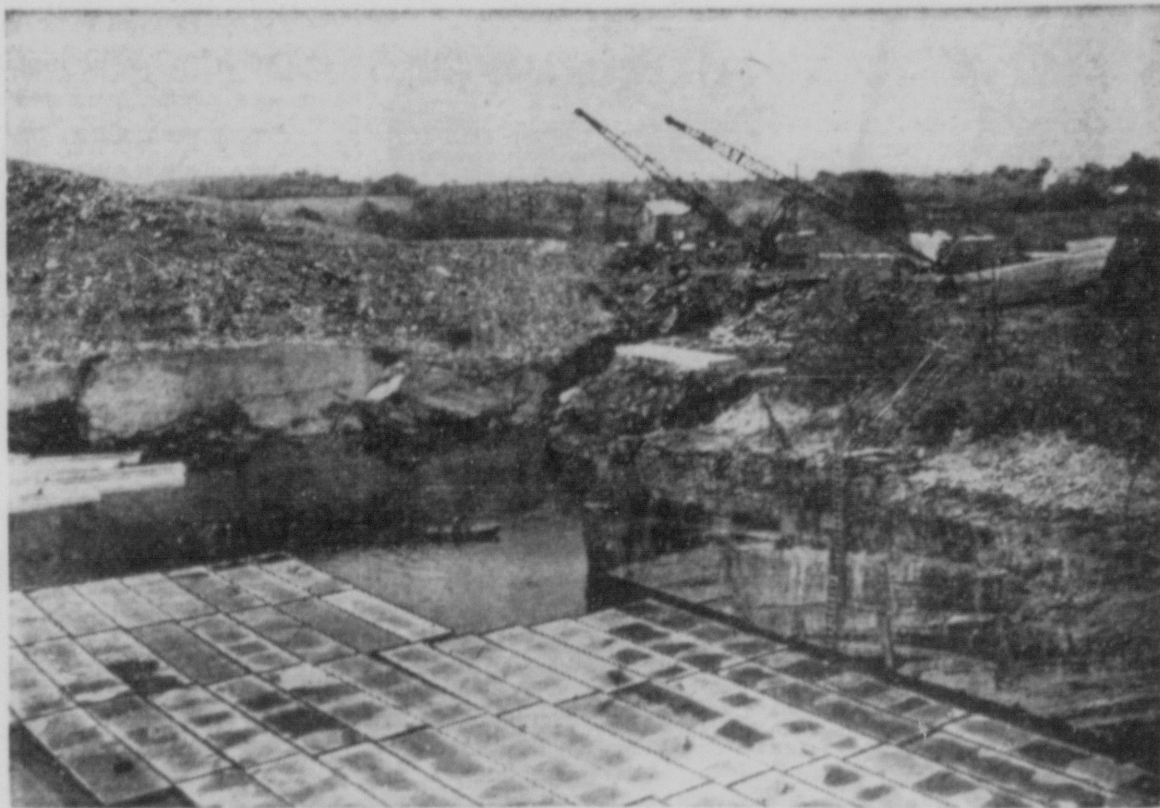

Stevens has repeatedly denied he was dilatory—and yesterday he declared that the Army ordered a full FBI investigation of Ft. Monmouth in April 1953—two months after he took office.

These charges and denials are an outgrowth of the basic allegations in the hearing: (1) Accusations by Army officials that McCarthy and aides used improper pressure to get favors for draftee G. David Schine, former McCarthy assistant; and (2) by McCarthy that the Army officials tried to "blackmail" him into calling off his probe of alleged subversives in the service.

McCarthy said yesterday the letter with the FBI material was handed to him a year ago by an Army officer—a young man, he said, who was "deeply disturbed" that in spite of repeated FBI warnings "nothing was being done" about Communist infiltration of places like the top-secret radar laboratory at Ft. Monmouth.

Atlantic City, N. J. (AP)—The Textile Workers Union of America (CIO) yesterday demanded the federal government act now "to stem the tide of depression in the textile industry."

PONTOONS to protect a capacity storage of 3 million barrels of fuel oil are lowered into this 270-foot-deep Alpha quarry in Wind Gap, site of Esso Standard Oil Company's first American experiment for the underground storage of oil. (Daily Record Photo)

Steel Pontoons To Serve As Floating Roof For Fuel Oil Stored In Abandoned Quarry

Wind Gap—First of 250 steel pontoons to serve as a "roof" over three million barrels of fuel oil to be stored in abandoned Alpha quarry were lowered into the 270-foot-deep water-filled chasm yesterday.

Stanley G. Ways, engineer in charge of Esso Standard Oil Company's "guinea-pig" experiment, said the "roofing" project will continue until about June 1, then filtering tanks will be erected around the quarry pit top.

Ways said he's still predicting the first American test at underground oil storage will be ready for operation in July.

Moved on site this week were piles of metal fencing which will encircle the property.

Esso launched its initial test here in mid-March after securing options on 10 other abandoned slate quarries here, in Pen Argyl and Bangor. This first storage venture is expected to cost the company $1 million, it was disclosed shortly after Esso announced its plans last year.

Alpha quarry, while holding a capacity of 3 million barrels, is expected to store about 1½ million at first, company officials said.

Oil will be piped here from the Bayonne, N. J., main line and fed into the quarry. As the oil is pumped in, water will be pumped out.

Ways said he believes there will be enough water to provide a solid base for the oil, since underground streams will provide some in a steady flow and other water will be taken from nearby Acme quarry.

Separate water lines from Acme quarry will keep a constant flow to the quarry bottom, forcing the oil to the top. Oil will be tapped by pumping means, then taken to filtering tanks before being transferred to the vehicles which will transport it all over the East.

The floating pontoons form a solid overhead protection from weather and debris, and will be locked together by means of heavy cables attached to the quarry sides. Eight feet wide and 32 feet long, the steel pontoons weigh three tons each. The cover will be sealed by a type of rubber clamped to the quarry wall and the pontoons.

President Backs Stevens To Limit In McCarthy Row

Washington (AP)—President Eisenhower said yesterday the McCarthy Army row has cost the United States a loss of international prestige and, to some extent, of national self respect.

He hopes, he told his news conference, that the incident will provide advantages that are at least comparable to those losses.

He took occasion also, in answering questions, to say he knows nothing that would cause him to lose confidence in Secretary of the Army Stevens' administration of the Army. On that basis, the President said, he would back Stevens to the limit.

Covering a wide range of other subjects, the President told newsmen:

TAFT-HARTLEY LAW—Eisenhower would not like to see the administration's recommendations for changes in the law blocked by what he called extraneous issues. This appeared to be a reference to moves to tack on a civil rights amendment to the proposed revision bill, thereby raising the threat of a filibuster which could stultify the measure.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS—Recent reports indicate a preponderance of favorable signs for business. But just as he cautioned against too pessimistic an outlook some weeks ago, Eisenhower said he would caution against looking at the picture through too rosy glasses now.

FARM PROGRAM—The President said he had never heard of reports that he was willing to accept a one-year extension of the present law for rigid high federal price supports for basic farm commodities.

PRISONERS OF WAR—The cardinal principle in the trials of American POW's accused of betraying their comrades in Korea is that justice will be tempered with mercy in all cases. There is a very deep understanding, he said, of the tremendous pressures that can be applied via the Communist "brain washing" technique.

Bank President Dies—Seranton (AP)—G. D'Andelot Beilin, 65, president of the First National Bank of Seranton since he retired six years ago after a long career with E. I. duPont de Nemours & Co., died yesterday.

Rebels Dig In For Expected Final Attack

Hanoi, Indochina (AP)—Vietminh "mole men" dug trenches and foxholes closer to the heart of Dien Bien Phu last night amid signs that another major assault on the shrinking French fortress might come quickly.

French aircraft, taking advantage of a lull in the tropical rains, plastered Vietminh artillery and anti-aircraft positions.

The rebels lobbed hundreds of 81 mm. mortar shells on the fort's defense lines in a softening-up process such as usually precedes infantry attack. Vietminh hordes were in grenade-hurling distance of Dien Bien Phu's barricades.

Earlier yesterday, despite tropical rain, Flying Boxcars piloted by American civilians and Dakota (C-47) transports swooped low and dropped more French Union paratroops and tons of supplies through sheets of rebel anti-aircraft fire to bolster the weary defenders.

As fervent preparations were pushed on both sides of the barricades for what may be the final rebel drive, U. S. Air Force Globemasters winged from Southern France with 450 French army and air force technicians bound for Indochina. In a similar airlift three weeks ago, U. S. planes took 1,000 French paratroops to Indochina.

The Vietminh "mole men," using picks, shovels, knives and their hands, bored in toward the maze of barbed wire protecting the shrinking French perimeter on all sides. Headless of the pelting seasonal rains that have turned the area into seas of mud, the rebels narrowed to 40 yards the distance separating them from the barricades.

A broadcast by Communist China's Peiping radio claimed the rebels have smashed within 400 yards of defending Brig. Gen. Christian de Castries' command post at the center of the bastion. This would bring the post well within range of rebel rifle fire. The French said the rebels were within 600 yards.

Vietminh clung to the new western stronghold they wrested Tuesday from the French Union forces outnumbered 10 to 1. De Castries has launched no more counterattacks on this point since his strong initial bid to retake it was beaten off. Apparently he felt it would be too costly to try again now, with the Vietminh obviously ready to hurl in thousands of reinforcements to hammer back any renewed French thrust.

Navy Security Checks Tight

New York (AP)—Adm. Robert B. Carney, chief of naval operations, said yesterday Navy security checks are as tight as it can make them—and were so even before Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's Army probe.

Carney also asserted his belief that a lot of valuable information is being withheld unnecessarily from the public.

For instance, he said, he feels that information "we have regarding the emergence of the Russians, in their effort to become a maritime power, should be made thoroughly public in our country."

He did not amplify this except to say Russia was making a "determined effort to challenge the Allied supremacy on the high seas," through construction of new warships.

Congress Asked To Help Solve Butter Problem

Washington (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson said yesterday he hasn't found a suitable plan for disposing of 360 million pounds of surplus government-owned butter. He asked Congress for help.

Benson told the House Agriculture Committee that to avoid future government buying a production payment plan is "administratively feasible" but that he does not feel he has authority to use this. He said he has asked the attorney general for a ruling.

Under the plan, he said it would be possible to halt further government buying. Butter prices would be allowed to drop to whatever level that supply and demand would carry them.

The government would make up the difference between the market price and the support price in the form of payments to processors.

Senate Limits Debate On Labor Bill

Washington (AP)—The Senate agreed yesterday to limit debate on revision of the Taft-Hartley labor law so that voting on a stack of amendments can begin Friday.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican, leader announced that beginning Friday debate will be held to 90 minutes on each amendment, with the time divided equally between those for and against it.

Knowland told newsmen he hoped to get at least one vote on Friday, possibly two, and to complete Senate action on the bill by Tuesday or Wednesday.

The unanimous consent agreement to limit debate indicated that the Republican leadership has assured Southern Democrats that ample votes are available to defeat any anti-discrimination amendments offered by Sens. Lehman (D-Lib-NY) and Ives (R-NY).

For instance, he said, he feels that information "we have regarding the emergence of the Russians, in their effort to become a maritime power, should be made thoroughly public in our country."

He did not amplify this except to say Russia was making a "determined effort to challenge the Allied supremacy on the high seas," through construction of new warships.

Under the plan, he said it would be possible to halt further government buying. Butter prices would be allowed to drop to whatever level that supply and demand would carry them.

Army Revolt In Paraguay

Buenos Aires, Argentina (AP)—Units of the Paraguayan army were reported yesterday to have rebelled against the government of President Federico Chaves at Asuncion, Paraguay's capital, in a bold attempt to seize power.

There were conflicting reports on whether the government or the rebels were in control in Asuncion last night.

Official government radio stations were off the air. But a private station said loyal government forces succeeded in quelling the uprising. It added that Police Chief L. Petit was killed in the battle with the rebels.

Borough Council Studies Figures On Parking Lots, Seeks Bids On Bond Issue

Stroudsburg Council last night adopted a resolution to advertise for $80,000 worth of bonds for the purpose of financing a five-year street improvement program, and studied figures on three municipal parking lot investigations.

Engineer Edward C. Hess, who had been directed to make the parking lot study, came up with some encouraging figures. Council, however, delayed action pending a report to the Stroudsburg Businessmen and their traffic committee.

Three lots studied by Hess would accommodate 27, 22 and 37 cars respectively. Cost of improving the lots for parking and installation of meters would be $3,320, $2,630 and $4,370, respectively.

The revenue returns, Hess reported, should be sufficient to pay for the cost of improvements in 2.62 years, 2.66 years and 2.76 years, respectively.

None of the figures take into account cost of the land. It is council's plan to offer the landowner a portion of the meter income for a lease, a plan in wide use in many cities throughout the nation.

Attorney George T. Robinson presented the resolution and details covering the proposed $80,000 bond issue. It would be a 20-year issue.

Date of acceptance of bids on the bonds will be set when Department of Internal Affairs approves preliminary papers connected with the issue.

Pending that approval, a request of bids for materials will be held up.

Eisenhower Praises Dulles, Rejects Idea U. S. Suffered Diplomatic Defeat At Geneva

Washington (AP)—President Eisenhower yesterday praised John Foster Dulles as the greatest secretary of state in his memory and sharply rejected talk of a major U. S. diplomatic defeat at the Geneva conference on Asia.

No one, the President said, can count a battle lost while it is still going on.

Pledging unqualified support for Dulles, who flew back from Geneva Tuesday, Eisenhower told his news conference the United States will continue to work for a collective security arrangement for Southeast Asia. Dulles' effort to obtain united action to stem Communism in that area have so far been unsuccessful. For one thing, the British decided to wait until the Geneva conference on the future of Indochina and Korea is over.

But Eisenhower declined to take the view that Dulles has suffered any defeat. As for the Geneva conference, now nine days old, the President said it "has produced no surprises. The expressed fears of some have proved unfounded."

Speaking with emphasis, the President thus discounted qualms expressed in advance by some Congress members that Dulles, in dealing with the Russians and Chinese Communists around the conference table at Geneva, might "appease" the Soviet bloc.

Eisenhower made his statement shortly after conferring with Dulles at the White House amid signs that a storm over the success or failure of Dulles' efforts at Geneva was blowing up in Capitol Hill.

Some Democrats have been openly critical of Dulles and were reported ready to pepper him with questions about his diplomatic maneuvers involving Korea and the Indochina war crisis.

Late yesterday Dulles met for an hour and 45 minutes with more than two dozen House and Senate leaders, both Democrats and Republicans, to discuss the Geneva conference and Asian problems, including the Indochina situation.

The congressional group afterwards, what the secretary said, but declared they would leave any statement to him. An aide to Dulles said he would have nothing to say last night but was considering making a speech or some sort of statement in the next few days.

Fire Victims Buried

Williamsport (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Bernard J. O'Brien watched five of their six children buried yesterday while local and state authorities continued to press an investigation into the fire that suffocated them.

These and sketchy radio broadcasts from inside that central South American country indicated unrest had broken the comparative calm of nearly five years—longest period of peace in Paraguay's long, bloody history.

A broadcast from Radio Teleso a private station at Asuncion, said a division of cavalry—normally about 500 mounted men in the Paraguayan army—had risen against the Chaves' regime. Loyalty troops and police rallied to the government's defense, the station added.

Unconfirmed rumors circulating here said several Paraguayan government leaders were killed in the early-morning fighting including Gen. Alfredo Stroessner, commander in chief of the armed forces.

It added that the rebels had taken over control of all telecommunications and the main buildings of the capital.

A well informed source in Buenos Aires said yesterday afternoon the situation in the Paraguayan capital was "uncertain." This indicated the movement against the Chaves government appeared still active.

Peace Talks May Start Tomorrow

Geneva (AP)—France and the Soviet Union agreed yesterday to start peace talks on Indochina Friday if possible and certainly by Saturday.

Agreement was reached as French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault decided to ride out his country's Cabinet crisis in Geneva. Bidault's decision against being present for the vote of confidence today in Parliament was taken as a sign of confidence the Cabinet would survive.

Jean Chauvel, French ambassador in Switzerland, spent an hour with Deputy Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko discussing the impending peace parley. Both agreed it should start as soon as feasible.

Later Chauvel reported the results of his conversations to British and U. S. delegations. It appeared that only the belated arrival of delegates from the Associated States of Indochina was holding up the peace meeting.

The American-sponsored parley of air, land and sea force chiefs is expected to take place within the next three weeks in Washington.

Informants said it would have a dual purpose: to produce plans to underwrite any sort of political settlement in Indochina that might come out of Geneva talks; to save Indochina from being overrun by the Communist-led Vietminh in case the peace talks fail.

Polio Vaccine Output May Be Stepped Up

Harrisburg (AP) — The new Salk polio vaccine will go into mass production immediately should it prove effective in warding off infantile paralysis, Dr. Russell E. Teague, state health secretary, said yesterday.

"If the vaccine proves as effective as many biologists think it will be," Teague said, "it will be administered to as many people as possible by next year."

The effectiveness of the vaccine, now being tested on nearly 5,000 Pennsylvania schoolchildren in a nationwide program, will be known by late September.

Pupils in the second grade in schools of Clinton County was administered their second dose yesterday. Centre County second graders get it today and McKean County next Monday.

The fourth county in the testing program, Mercer, gave the second dose to its second graders Tuesday. The second inoculation followed the first by a week. The third and final shot follows the second by two weeks.

Stroudsburg Wins Three First Places

Stroudsburg High School teams topped the winning lineups in yesterday's Monroe County Mathematics Tournament.

In the American Legion post home auditorium, Stroudsburg High teams placed first in three categories. East Stroudsburg High School won two firsts for team showing while Barrett High took home one first.

These are the winners, by classes, individual and team:

Plane geometry—Una Jane Saxe, Coolbaugh, first; Vilja Kreek, East Stroudsburg High School, second; Stathia Tomkey, Coolbaugh, honorable mention; Howard Powell and Adrian Tewksbury, both of East Stroudsburg, honorable mention. Team winners: East Stroudsburg, first; Stroudsburg, second.

Intermediate algebra—David Adams, Stroudsburg, first; Richard Huguenin, Barrett, second; Thomas Metzgar, Kay Shook, Michael Cohen and Margaret Haney, all of Stroudsburg, all honorable mention. Team winners: Stroudsburg, first; Barrett, second.

Advanced math—Marian Swartley, Stroudsburg, first; Donald Garavanti, Stroudsburg, second; Loretta Hauscher and Sidney Heller, both East Stroudsburg, and Genevieve Battisto, Stroudsburg, all honorable mention. Team winners: Stroudsburg, first; East Stroudsburg, second.

Eighth grade arithmetic—Eugene Martin, East Stroudsburg; Dorothy May, Stroudsburg; and Richard Bullock, Pocono, all firsts; George Pough, East Stroudsburg; and Norman Burger, Polk, second; Horace Cole, East Stroudsburg; Grete Ewe, Chestnut Hill; and John Arnold, Barrett, all honorable mention. Team winners: East Stroudsburg, first; Stroudsburg, second.

General mathematics—Beverly Casella, Pocono, first; Nancy Huguenin, Barrett, second; Gordon DiFuria, Barrett and James Matts, Pocono, honorable mention. Team winners: Barrett, first; Pocono second.

Algebra One—Donald Hickey, Stroudsburg, first; Robert Haigh, and William Kegley, Stroudsburg, both second; Frank Radler, JoAnn Fritz, both of Stroudsburg; and Gregory Transue, Pocono; Edward Champney, Coolbaugh; Richard Flory, East Stroudsburg and James Smiley, Pocono, all honorable mention. Team winners: Stroudsburg, first; East Stroudsburg, second.

Gold medals were awarded for first prizes; silver medals for second and honorable mention citations for other winners. Plaques went to the winning teams.

Officers of the county Mathematics Club are Elwood Arndt, president; Lester Dimmick, vice president; Elizabeth Leonard, secretary and Ruth Flory, treasurer. Tournament committees were Charles Arnold, chairman; Raymond Surfass, co-chairman; Lester Dimmick, arrangements; Edward E. Bosman, program and Jonas May, supervisor of test construction.

The Club officials expressed their gratitude to the Legion for use of its hall; to John Litts and Walter Sebring for their support and cooperation in preparing the tournament and to Mr. May and his classes at State Teachers College for providing the testing materials for the events.

County Office Completes Street Lists Of Voters

Street lists for voting purposes have been finished—and in record time, commissioners office said yesterday.

The saving in time was attributed to use of a machine which has been placed in the court house for demonstration purposes by its manufacturer.

A type of multigraph machine, it prints duplicate copies of papers by using a chemically-treated master sheet which can be made up on a typewriter. It can also print forms, cards, and can print a four-color process by running the material through four times.

Last year it took three clerks three weeks (about 320 man-hours) to type up the street lists and process them by duplicating machine. Cost for materials alone was $50.

This year, using the county-owned addressograph machine to make the master list and using the demonstration machine for duplicating, it took one girl 3.5 days (about 21 man-hours) to do the same work. Cost for materials used is cut about in half because both sides of the sheet can be printed with the present machine, said Chief Clerk Harry Taylor.

The machine costs around $945. Metal master sheets suitable for printing up to 50,000 copies, cost about $3.50 per sheet. Paper master sheets for 500 copies cost about a nickel; paper master sheets for 3,000 copies cost about 12 cents.

Record Payments

Washington (AP)—The Labor Department reported yesterday the states yesterday paid out a record 553 million dollars in unemployment compensation benefits during the first quarter of this year.

The Amazon River was named by a Spanish explorer after a battle with Indians in which a large number of Indian women took part, reminding the explorer of the legend of the Amazons, a warlike race of women.

Labs Report New Advances Against Cholera

Pittsburgh (AP)—New laboratory advances against cholera—a disease which always is a potential threat in certain areas of the world including war-affected Indochina—were reported this week.

Two separate teams of researchers reported progress towards achieving science's long-sought objective of reproducing the disease in laboratory animals under conditions closely similar to those marking the infection in man.

Still another researcher told of new findings about what happens when cholera vaccine is injected into the body. And he offered a set of conditions in connection with preparation of such vaccine which he declared might be best suited to achieving maximum effectiveness with a given vaccine preparation.

Dear Mr. Heller,

Regarding the Cresco detour.

As you know we have had this detour for the full summer season of '53, and I believe all in this section have suffered a loss due to this with no complaint. Should we be forced to go through a second season with another detour, business is bound to suffer. I do feel that a temporary short detour could be made without too much inconvenience to the tourist. If you can bring this before the highway department through your paper, the attitude of all resort owners, it will be greatly appreciated.

Thanking you for your cooperation.

Sincerely,
Carl & Naomi Riess

Col. Mack Must Remain!

A sudden move on the part of somebody in the Pentagon to transfer Col. William M. Mack, commandant of Tobyhanna Signal Corps to some sort of a desk job in the Pentagon, is a bit too curious to pass over without some comment. Reaction in the Pocono Mountains region of Northeastern Pennsylvania matched that of our Representative in Congress, Francis E. Walter, D., Easton, Pa.

Col. Mack has established himself here. He has the respect, the confidence and the appreciation of the entire region for his fair dealing, his participation in sound community ventures. But above all, a respect for the manner in which he has brought the Signal Depot along to its present status.

The Daily Record has conducted an investigation of its own regarding Col. Mack, supplementing what this newspaper already knows of the officer.

We have come up with this: Col. Mack has had nothing but approving reaction from his superiors for the manner in which he has developed the Signal Depot and met the impact of hundreds of public relations problems which follow such a huge venture.

Col. Mack is needed to expedite the completion of the Signal Corps operation. The people who work under him know that. The community knows it. His co-workers at the depot have confidence in, and respect for the commandant.

Why this sudden move to upset the efficiency of a $15,000,000 operation at so critical a time in its administrative requirements?

Why this sudden move to remove from the community surrounding the giant Depot, a man who has soundly created a sincere respect for the Signal Corps—yes, even the Pentagon?

The Daily Record is opposed to such tactics. This newspaper agrees with Rep. Francis E. Walter. Col. Mack should remain here, finish the job, and stay on as long as possible in keeping with his required retirement from service.

Anything less than that provides good cause for a thorough investigation into the reasons for such unsound thinking.

The Value of The Grand Jury

If what The Daily Record has heard about the current grand jury being "tough" is true, this newspaper joins the populace of this county in commending the jury's members for their steadfastness to an unpleasant job.

Seventeen true bills were reported in as a result of their investigations and cross-examination of witnesses. Three for involuntary manslaughter were dismissed.

If law and order are to be maintained in this county of ours, a grand jury's adherence to its duty without fear or favor must be continuous and unrelenting.

When those who would flout the law find that in Monroe County their actions will put them not only in the toils of the police but mean prosecution and probable conviction, yeggs, burglars, sex-maniacs, and such will think twice before they carry on their nefarious plans in this area.

We need grand juries of this type in this county of ours.

The French Foreign Legion still functions. It consists of three regiments of about 20,000 men.

There were 305,000 marriages in France in 1953, a drop of 8,000 from the previous year.

The Chinese have farmed dogs for their fur for centuries.

The Once Over

—by H. I. Phillips

Doctors in Chicago have formed an association through which patients may pay on the installment plan. Branches are being formed in New York, San Francisco and other cities. This will enable us to be a hypochondriac on easier terms. We rushed to our medico at once for details of his time-payment plans. He asked how sick we were this time. We replied that it all depended on what it would cost us to find out. "What price range do you want your latest ailment in?" he asked frankly.

"I'd like to keep this visit in the low price range, but I don't want to look too cheap," we said. "Do you want de luxe attention or general utility treatment?" he asked.

We explained that we could have our visits with general small talk or without, and that a lot would depend upon whether we chose the standard pills or de luxe.

"I like pills with a little zip and style, but not too gaudy," we said.

"How about prescriptions? Do you want them on utility paper or high gloss?"

We said the utility type would do and he then asked about other details. Would a short ordinary look at our tongue satisfy or did we want the special streamlined inspection. "Let's get this straight," we said. "Do your diagnosis and treatments come under the heading of standard equipment or do you quote a price and then charge for many essentials as extra?"

"Nothing today is available at the price quoted," said the doctor. "Most of the essentials are listed as extras. If you merely want your pulse taken there will be the basic fee. If you desire your blood pressure, and temperature taken, and things like that, there will be a slightly extra price tag."

"Can I get any allowance on my old illness for a new set of symptoms?" we asked.

"Things are tough just now in the secondhand illness market. All doctors are overstocked. Last year's complaints are a glut on the market," the doctor said.

Some Senators in the Army-McCarthy quiz show spent the weekend at the Kentucky Derby and we expected some such ab-sent-minded questions as, "Will you repeat the last answer; I tore up my ticket?" and "Now, then, was this telephone conversation straight, place or show?"

One thing is certain: The Washington hearings have greatly hurt the sale of sleeping pills. It seems to us that if the sessions are to be speeded up at all it will be necessary to switch them to Boston so Mr. Welch will be sufficiently near the dinner table to permit a session to last longer than two hours.

It has seemed to us that from no witness has it been harder to get a yes or no answer than from Secretary Stevens.

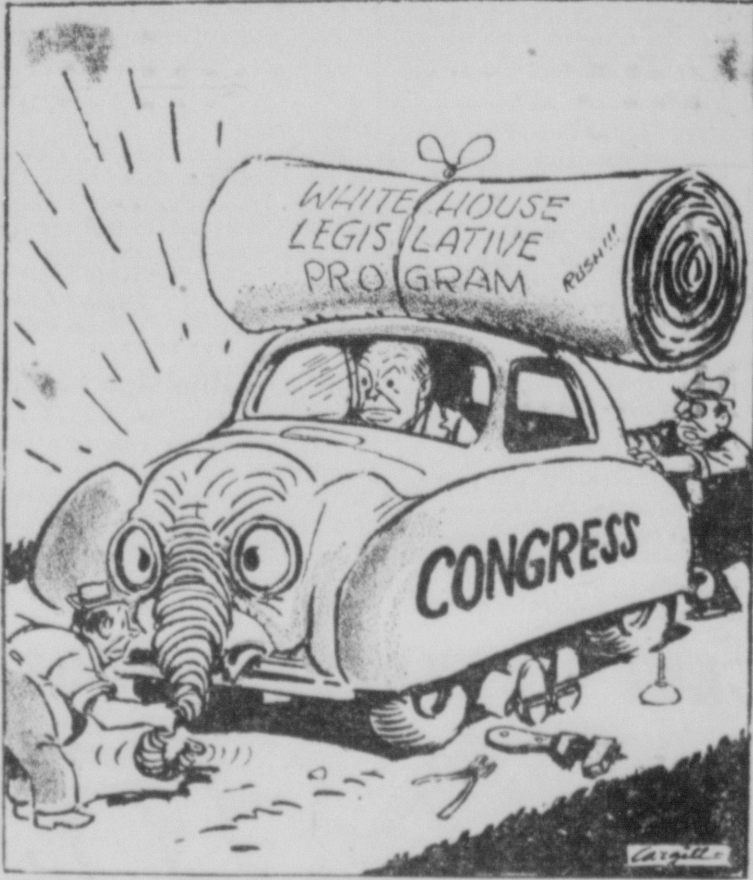

Narriman, former wife of ex-King Farouk, is marrying a doctor with an income of around $40 a week. . . . She evidently has determined to find a permanent cure for yacht trouble. . . . Our favorite bar boy has been following the Washington hearings and when we asked for a short beer he replied, "Do you want this expedited or don't six months mean anything?" . . . Ford announces that it will soon turn out a "Prestige Car." . . . From "Lizzie" to "Queen Elizabeth," no doubt.

Washington Observation "Let's expedite these hearings," The Senators repeat; Then Joseph Welch arises And says, "It's time to eat."

"Oh, time is of the essence," The quizzers all relate; Then Counsel Welch announces, "The hour's getting late."

"Let's get these hearings over," The cry is heard again; But Mr. Welch of Boston Has got to catch a train!

ANOTHER GREAT OPPORTUNITY FOR THE BATTERY INVENTOR

Robert S. Allen Reports

U. S. To Offer Indochina States Military Agreement

Washington—The Administration has a new plan to save Indochina from seizure by the Communists.

The three Associated States (Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia) will be offered separate military agreements under which the U. S. will provide them with the equipment and other aid necessary to develop armed forces capable of resisting Red aggression.

Previously, such direct action has been barred by the French. They adamantly insisted on control of all military supplies and would not permit the U. S. to train native troops. But under the new French pact full independence, they can now enter into treaties of their own. This is the basis of the Administration's new plan.

The momentous decision was made by the National Security Council at a meeting lasting more than three hours. President Eisenhower personally presided and took a leading part in the grave discussion.

The Council also determined that the U. S. will not approve any partitioning of Indochina, or recognize a Red government there. The U. S. will participate in cease-fire negotiations in Geneva, but only on the condition of not being bound by any agreement that may be reached.

Will seek an alliance of Southeast Pacific nations for their mutual protection against Communist conquest. The countries that will be asked to join this defense pact are Australia, New Zealand, the Philippines, Thailand, Laos, Cambodia, Vietnam and Indonesia.

Throughout the long and solemn meeting, President Eisenhower stressed the importance of united action in Indo-China.

He said it is vital to prevent that strategic region from falling into the hands of the Communists, but hold American policy must be coordinated with our allies to be most effective. For that reason, he advocated immediate talks for a mutual defense alliance with the other vitally interested nations.

Admiral Radford, who has favored sending U. S. air and naval forces into Indo-China, vigorously argued the time has come to draw a hard and fast line on further Red aggression.

"We must not give them another inch," contended the head of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. "If the Kremlin and Peiping aren't stopped in Indo-China, then we will have to fight them in the Philippines. If they succeed in grabbing Indo-China, the whole of Southeast Asia is in the direst peril."

Also discussed at the meeting but without reaching any conclusions were:

The need for increasing the new military budget. Admiral Radford raised this question.

The use of atomic weapons if the Air Force and Navy have to fight in Indo-China. General Nathan Twining, Air Chief of Staff, who opposes such intervention, brought this up.

The possible attitude of Congress on sending American fighting forces to Southeast Asia but not into a combat zone. Most of the President's advisers were of the view that such actions would be approved by Congress.

The Tip-off: The truce in Korea is headed for Democratic attack. A significant "trial run" of this impending challenge took place at a closed-door meeting of House Appropriations Committee, when Representative Clarence Cannon, Mo., ranking Democrat, engaged in a rough-and-tumble argument on the issue with Defense Secretary Wilson.

Cannon tangled with Wilson after talks with other Democratic leaders, in both the House and Senate. All strongly urged Cannon to grill the Eisenhower cabinet member.

The Korean cease-fire has long been privately criticized by Democrats. They have assailed it on the ground the armistice enabled the Chinese to shift military supplies to the satellite Vietnam in Indo-China; also that upwards of 100 American prisoners of war are still in Red hands.

But the Democrats have been wary about denouncing the truce publicly. In recent party pow-wows it was decided to try to set the stage for that. Secretary Wilson's appearance at a closed-door meeting of the House Appropriations Committee afforded the opportunity to "test out" Administration reaction to attacks on the armistice.

That is the inside reason for the significance that attaches to Cannon's interrogation of the Defense chief. Cannon, veteran of 32 years' continuous service in the House, is one of the best informed members in Congress and one of the most skilled debaters.

Following is a verbatim account of this "test run," as recorded in the unpublished transcript of the meeting:

"Cannon: You have spoken of the Korean truce as an 'uneasy armistice.' Do you think this armistice is likely to be dissolved; is that why you call it an 'uneasy armistice'?"

"Wilson: Of course, somewhere down the line it will be worked out. We have a somewhat similar situation in Germany and Austria. We have an uneasy peace in these countries, too."

George Sokolsky Says...

Geneva Can Achieve U. S. Diplomatic Isolation And "No Alliance" Policy

What could have been accomplished at Geneva beneficial to the United States it was impossible to see at the time of the Berlin Conference, January 25 to February 18. It was then clear that John Foster Dulles, who up to the last moment was successful at Berlin, had fumbled the ball as he reached the goal posts.

Dulles is an able Secretary of State but he carries on his back too heavy a load of error made by his predecessors since 1938. He cannot divest himself of this load, as his country has committed itself by treaties and agreements to a policy that has brought little but losses since the war was supposed to have ended in 1945. Such conferences as Teheran, Yalta, San Francisco and Potsdam have all been beneficial to Russia; none for the United States.

At Geneva, the Soviet Universal State labors to isolate the United States from our European allies. The stakes are high, for if Molotov and Chou En-lai succeed fully, American influence will be limited in Europe and eliminated from Asia. For Great Britain, this could mean a restoration of economic dominance over Europe by means of enormous contracts which the Russians would pay for not only in heavy cereals and other commodities, but also in gold. Should Great Britain accept Russian blandishments, it could mean a restoration of British trade in Red China.

What can the United States offer Great Britain as an offset to these enticements? Continued financial assistance is repugnant to the British because it means continued dependence and it is politically offensive in the United States. Nothing but sentimentality—a long history of friendship and our support for Great Britain in two wars—can save the relationships between these two countries.

The pay-off for the Soviet Universal State would be an anti-American settlement of the Korean and Indochina problems. The war which the Red Chinese started in Korea in October, 1950 was designed to destroy the independence of Korea and to incorporate that country into the Chinese sector of the Soviet Universal State. The United States fought a war to prevent such an absorption of Korea by Red China. At Geneva, Chou En-lai is proposing a unification of the two parts of Korea which could achieve his utmost aspiration.

It is likely that before the Geneva Conference is over, fighting may again break out in Korea. It is no secret that Syngman Rhee has long planned using the forces at his disposal to keep Korea in turmoil in a suicide struggle to prevent a peaceful conquest of his country. He has, from the first distrust of the Geneva Conference. He had anticipated that the British would oppose any American program of continued intervention in Asia.

Any compromise over Indochina can only be beneficial to Red China, which is believed already to have three divisions inside that country and a larger army based on Kweilin in Kwangsi. The partition of Indochina into two areas, one held by France, the other by the Communists, cannot but work out favorably for the Communists. A prolonged truce can only work out beneficially for the Communists as it did in Manchuria in 1946 and in Panmunjom in Korea in 1951-53.

Only some form of international intervention can save Indochina from the Communists. Such intervention the United States is willing to undertake provided other nations, particularly Great Britain, join even by token forces. Thus far, Great Britain has declined to join with the United States in any such effort.

Indochina differs from Korea by the technicality that in Indochina it is assumed that a native population has risen in revolt against an alien exploiter. While there is a degree of truth in such an assumption, the reality of the situation is that the conquest of that country would open Thailand and Burma to war and conquest by the Soviet Universal State. The British apparently are willing to chance their eventual elimination as a trading nation and the United States is unwilling to go it alone.

At worst, what Geneva can achieve is the diplomatic isolation of the United States and a complete reorientation of American policy, which since 1945 has been based on the ideas of General George Marshall. It could even be an enforced reversion to the "no entangling alliances" policy of George Washington, which prevailed among us for 128 years, from 1789 to 1917.

On Broadway

—by Walter Winchell

Tales of Two Cities: Three Republican Senators offered to act as attorneys for Sen. McCarthy. But so far he feels that he and Roy Cohn can handle things. Point of order: Why do the newspapers and press wire associations send so many reporters to the hearings when one reporter can see or hear it much better in the office? Some of the Senators told us the heat and light for the television cameras were pretty awful. . . . "Then why are you having the hearings televised?" someone asked. . . . "Because we can't refuse permission to any accredited news medium." . . . All in the end, characters, witnesses, Senators and Counselors are at all times conscious that they have an audience. . . . Like an actor on stage. . . . The hearing room aides are jam-packed like big city subways at the rush hour. . . . This is against the law in theatres and other places of assembly. . . . Synonym for Snail's Pace: The speed with which the Army's Inspector General (it's over 3 months now) makes a report to Sec'y Stevens of the Peress Case. . . . You feel sorry for the "still" photographers. The Committee ruled that they must remain in a kneeling position or squatting so they won't interfere with the TV cameras. . . . They bob up like monkeys whenever there is a pause or a huddle or an argument. . . . One of the Senate Police just passed us this memo: "You were just pointed out to a Senator, who said: 'It's the first time I've ever seen him with his hat off.'"

Delaware Water Gap Board Okays School Union Resolution

Action Follows Move Taken By Stroud Twp.

Delaware Water Gap school directors approved a union resolution last night.

The resolution paves the way for an official petition asking county commissioners to place the question of union districting for Delaware Water Gap, Stroud Township and Stroudsburg on the ballot for November elections.

Stroud Township was the first of the three boards to approve the resolution. Stroud met Monday night.

Approval of the resolution was voted at a regular meeting of the Water Gap school board in the borough school building. Henry J. LaBar, president of the board, made the motion for the resolution.

LaBar and the four other board members—Fred Shumaker, Mrs. Helen B. Carlton, Harold Akers and Miss Lillian Stark—all voted in favor of the motion.

A formal petition to county commissioners is the next step in the move toward a union of the three districts. Such a petition will be worked out by solicitors for the boards.

Only Stroudsburg borough school board remains to approve the measure. This action will come before the Stroudsburg board at its next regular meeting on Thursday, May 13—one week from tonight.

With the approval of all three boards, and petitions from them, commissioners will then be asked to place the question of union before voters in November. Voters from all three districts must approve the union move before it can go into effect.

A combined meeting of the three boards is slated for Wednesday, May 26, at Delaware Water Gap. At that time—with individual board action on the union resolution behind them—the three boards will continue their study of the union proposal.

At last month's meeting—held at Stroud's Clearview School—the three boards heard optimistic reports on the benefits to education and financing to be found through the union system.

Luther League Nominates

Stylersburg—Nomination of officers was held here this week when Hamilton parish Luther League members convened. Election is scheduled for the next meeting on May 9 in Christ Church, Hamilton Square.

Endorsed were Jane Bittenbender and Earl Budge for president; Nancy Hartman and Joan Hunt, vice president; Marion Metzgar and James Smith, secretary; Clair Altemose and Forrest Heller, treasurer, and Nancy Hartman and Nancy Metzgar, pianist.

About 30 members and parents attended the session which was preceded by a covered dish supper honoring parents.

League members voted to sponsor two films on May 9 in Christ Church, beginning at 8 p.m. One, a religious movie, is entitled "As We Forgive." The second is a novelty film entitled "Dog-gone Mixup."

Members announced they will receive an offering for the parish hall fund during the film presentation.

Council Delays Action On Parking Restriction

Stroudsburg Council last night withheld approval of an ordinance restricting parking on Broad St. from the proposed new Fifth St. bridge to the foot of Foxtown Hill pending a reply from the State Highway Department to questions submitted the district last month.

Attorney George T. Robinson read a letter he had sent to the department advising them the borough would be happy to co-operate on the no-parking request if the question were reframed to eliminate the borough from acceptance and approval of state maps, thereby involving the borough in right of way damages.

This same letter set forth that street reconstruction would disturb an existing sanitary sewer line, Mr. Robinson said. He told highway department his legal research indicated that any changes in the line would have to be paid by the state, since the borough is not a public utility and since the line was in existence long before the street was a state highway.

Robinson said his letter pledged cooperation on some $100 in expenditures for various changes and installation of storm water lines, but that the borough wanted assurance that the department's original plan to take care of storm water off Route 611—now pouring freely on residential properties—would be carried out.

A letter from the district office answered none of Mr. Robinson's questions except a rephrasing of the no-parking proposal in a satisfactory manner.

40 Pennsylvania Women To Form WAC Platoon

A group of 40 women from Pennsylvania will be enlisted together in June to make up Pennsylvania's first WAC platoon, SFC Peggy Parker, local recruiter announced last night.

According to Sgt. Parker the women selected will travel to the new WAC center at Fort McClellan, Ala., for basic training. She reported applicants must be 18 to 34 years of age, single and no dependents. If under 21 parental consent must be obtained.

Sgt. Parker is on duty in the Stroudsburg Postoffice recruiting station each Monday from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

In view of the lack of answers on the sewer line and other questions, all of which would be costly to the borough, council unanimously withheld approval of the no-parking request.

Mr. Robinson was instructed to again contact district office officials and to submit the full letter he wrote there April 14 to the Secretary of Highways with a request for an answer.

Attorney J. Joseph McCluskey, representing 21 property owners along Phillips St., all of whom had been served with notices to install four-foot sidewalks along their property as a safety measure, presented a petition asking council rescind their action.

Council agreed that they would study the eight-point petition in detail and render a decision, extending the 60-day limit in the sidewalk order to begin, if and when a decision is made to enforce the order.

Meanwhile, the entire council agreed to make a spot study of the claims set forth in the petition by viewing all properties involved.

A similar request from William Torzillo, involving sidewalk installation on the west side of Fifth Street, south to existing walks, will receive similar consideration.

Points of the 21 petitions briefly were:

Costs in every instance would be excessive and in no case would benefit approach or exceed costs; sidewalks are unnecessary because of lack of pedestrian traffic; property owners affected only recently had heavy outlays for curb and gutter; current costs for work are higher than they've ever been.

Also, large trees, stone walls, shrubs, flowers would be eliminated; fills would be necessary and re-landscaping required; costs would exceed $1,500 in some cases; money is not available; inconvenience to pedestrians is meager compared with cost; property owners are unable to name or are uninformed of any persons who want the walks.

The motion to give the petition careful study was made by Councilman H. G. Heller and seconded by Councilman Samuel Lee. On a roll call vote Heller, Lee and President Ed Lawson voted in favor and Councilmen Ed Doran and Daniel Warner voted against the motion.

Mr. Doran took the position that the matter should be immediately adjudicated and a decision rendered in favor of the property owners.

A complaint in the form of a petition against alleged interference by Pocono TV Relay Co., was filed with Warren Mikels, Stroudsburg, as spokesman. Mikels said non-cable TV users are getting all sorts of interference, double images, etc.

He asked that Pocono TV Relay be compelled to insulate all its cable; or that the borough revoke privileges of the concern to use utility poles in the borough.

Council approved a plan to ask the Federal Communications Commission to enter the borough to investigate the complaint and make ruling or recommendations.

The courses follow: Hose evolution, pumping evolution, problem fires A and B, structural fires, ladders, brush fires and electrical fires.

Registration will be Saturday from 8 to 9:30 a.m. at which time classes will commence. James A. Oakley, Dickinson City, instructor of problem fires, will head the list of fire school instructors.

Grand Jury Recommends Minor Repairs

No major alterations or additions to county-maintained facilities were suggested yesterday by the May grand jury.

Jurors said they found the county home "nice and clean," but had a few suggestions: first floor corridor of the men's section should be resurfaced; women should have a few more "better type" chairs; the walk to the main entrance should be repaired.

Other suggestions:

County school superintendent's office: install a drinking fountain. County jail: "very clean," but repair windows and refinish brick. Children's Aid Society, first floor office should be repapered; Cancer Society office, there should be a better heating system. . . there's no heat on second floor in Winter. Courthouse: redecorate law library; redecorate attorney's room, put in shades; redecorate grand jury room and "there should be a day-a-day pens."

Three Hurt In Plant Accidents

Industrial accidents accounted for three of the four persons treated in the General Hospital dispensary Tuesday.

Lloyd Van Horn, Stylersburg RDI, employed by Empire Box Corp., was treated for a cut nose, suffered when he fell against a cardboard carton.

Arthur Sebring, East Stroudsburg, crushed the tip of his left ring finger in a press while working at Hughes Printing Co.

George Marsh, 1829 Douglas Ave., Stroudsburg, cut his right index finger on machinery while working at Line Material Co.

The other patient, Lewis Hawley, Stroudsburg RDI, suffered a cut left forearm when accidentally struck by an axe.

Bangor Board Hears Report On Jointure

Bangor—School directors last night heard that Roseto board is now against jointure with Portland, East Bangor, and Upper and Lower Mount Bethel Townships.

At the same time, Roseto directors are for jointure with Bangor, and possibly Washington Township.

That was the message given directors by Edmund Turzto, solicitor for Bangor and Roseto boards.

He said Roseto was willing to enter a jointure of grades one through 12 with Bangor, "or any system that Bangor comes up with."

At the same time Roseto wants Bangor board to know that they "don't want any further negotiations with Portland, East Bangor and Upper and Lower Mount Bethel Townships," Turzto said.

Where Washington Township was concerned, Turzto said, "Roseto board feels that last month's action by Washington directors is not the demonstrative opinion of the people." He added that if Washington Township is willing, Roseto would be happy to go into jointure with them, too.

Turzto said Roseto has a vacant building which could accommodate "300 pupils over and above what they have already," and that this building would be available if jointure were effected.

Turzto said Roseto directors also wanted Bangor directors to know there "is a possibility" of annexing those portions of Washington Township which lie close to Bangor and Roseto. Turzto said Roseto directors have had "expressions from citizens in those sections that they took upon annexation favorably."

Other school board business: Marvin DePanphilis was elected treasurer of the school board at a salary of $250.

Requests for pay increases were received from J. L. Williams, high school football coach, and Mrs. Hazel Branch, girls' basketball coach. Requests were tabled until the next meeting.

Board will request names of the entire coaching staff so that action on pay raises may be taken.

The first foreign salute to American sovereignty was fired in the Dutch colony of St. Eustatius in the West Indies in 1776.

Three-Mill Rise In School Tax Tentatively Approved

Bangor—Biggest budget in school district history was approved tentatively last night. It calls for the maximum tax rate of $10 per capita and 35 mills.

Directors plan expenditures totaling $346,351.44.

Expenses for 1953-54 were $331,887.08.

The per capita rate is the same as last year, but the millage is up three mills.

Director Quintus LaBar proposed the board should "explore the possibility of finding other means of taxation—to touch every taxpayer rather than just the property owner."

The board agreed with the suggestion.

LaBar contended the "other means of taxation" would "keep the tax rate at 32 mills."

A proposed salary schedule for teachers was tabled until the next meeting. It has been under study by a joint committee of directors and teachers.

Mid-Season Fish-Stocking Begins Soon

Harrisburg (AP)—The opening of Pennsylvania 1954 trout fishing season was described yesterday as highly successful by the State Fish Commission.

"Opening day was close to perfect—it was as good all the way around as any I can remember," said C. A. French, executive director of the commission.

He reported that district fish wardens have informed the commission that in 24 areas the catch was greater than ever known before. In 17 other areas the catch was described as about the same as last year, French said. Several others reported a below record catch.

The 1954 season opened April 15 and ends midnight July 31. Aug. 1 fishing is legal 24 hours a day, 7 days a week for the entire 108 day season.

"It was a darn nice opening and everyone was happy with it," French added. "The weather the first few hours was ideal and so were water conditions on a statewide basis."

The executive director disclosed that the commission's mid-season stocking program will get under way within 10 days. Another 800,000 to 1 million fish will be dumped into streams across the state "where the pressure is greatest."

"We've got to get started on the restocking since we can't continue it when the temperature is too high," French explained. The commission stocked a total of 1½ million fish in the 2½ months before the season opened.

He said that field reports show there was enough water in most streams and that water temperature was just right. "This had as much to do with the opening day success as anything."

Moyer Funeral Services Held

Funeral services for Mrs. Nettie Moyer, Pocono Pines, were held at 2 p.m. yesterday at Gantzhorn funeral home.

Rev. E. T. Horn officiated. Interment was made in Pocono Lake Cemetery. Pallbearers were William Quinn, Claude Bush, Arthur Werick, Fred Hennes, Clarence Moyer and Daniel Mulligan.

Dogfish eggs are oblong.

LT. DONALD CHIRAFISI, Canadian, Korean veteran now in the storage division at Tobyhanna Signal Corps Depot, was promoted to captain yesterday.

Memorial Day Plans Made By VFW Post

Bangor—Memorial Day services and plans for Poppy Day were discussed when the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post held its meeting Tuesday night at the post home.

Commander Virgil Wise, gave a report on the county council meeting held at Stroudsburg last week. The next council meeting will be held at the Bangor Post Home on June 13.

Next month there will be election of delegates to the state convention to be held at Harrisburg on July 1, 2 and 3. Two new flags were purchased, one for outside the post home, and the other for the meeting room. Two new members were accepted.

Dunbar Funeral Rites Conducted

Services for Stewart Dunbar, 76, Bushkill, were held yesterday at Lanterman funeral home, East Stroudsburg, with Rev. Harold C. Eaton officiating.

Burial was at Sand Hill Cemetery, Bushkill. Pallbearers were Frank Dickison, August Miller, Harold R. Miller, Harry Shuppe, Gersham Bunnell and Franklin R. Miller.

A horse is mounted or harnessed from the left or "near" side.

Committees Announced For Banquet

Stroudsburg High School Future Farmers of America chapter will hold its 17th annual "Parent and Son Banquet" at 7:30 tonight in the Stroudsburg Methodist Church.

Site of the celebration was erroneously listed as the high school in yesterday's edition of this newspaper due to an error in reporting.

Chief among the honored guests at tonight's banquet will be Martha Yost. Miss Yost has been chosen "Chapter Sweetheart" by the members of the group.

Other honorary guests will be Earl Groner, superintendent of the school; Alfred Munson and Samuel Wells, principal and assistant principal of the high school; Wilmer Frisbie, vocational ag supervisor for Monroe and Northampton counties; Arthur Ifft, Monroe county State ag agent; Lester Zimmerman, his assistant; Van D. Yetter, Clayton Northup and Frank Miller.

Serving on committees have been the following members:

Herbert Courtright, general chairman; James Rinker, assistant; Courtright, Rinker, Harry Deiter and LeRoy Hochrime, program; Carl Bailey, Robert Courtright, Stephen Drake, Arlett Cannon and James Myers, food.

Also Terry Bartleson, Russell Kresge, Harry Deiter, Ernest Lesoine and David Schoonover, invitations; Donald Knickman, printing; Samuel Blakeslee, Jack Bachman, Howard Blakeslee and Gary Guthrie, reception; Richard Astheimer, mimeographing.

Albert Cross is the vocational agriculture instructor at the high school. He is also adviser to the FFA chapter.

Hidden Physical Ailments Frequently Basis Of Juvenile Delinquency, Says Psychiatrist

By Alton L. Blakeslee
Associated Press Science Reporter
St. Louis (AP)—Hidden physical ailments often are part of the disease of juvenile delinquency and crime, according to a psychiatrist-expert.

Finding the physical disease and correcting it helps "cure" the delinquents and criminals, said Dr. Ralph S. Banay of New York City, former chief psychiatrist at Sing Sing.

"Criminality is a disease, an emotional disorganization, and it often has a physical cause," he told the American Psychiatric Assn.

The physical troubles can be unrecognized nervous disorders, damage from encephalitis or brain fever, latent epilepsy, disturbed glands, complications from such childhood diseases as measles, or incipient schizophrenia, he said.

They can make a person more susceptible to psychological or emotional injury or breakdown, he explained.

Bringing the serious delinquent or criminal back to normal life calls for total treatment of a person with the aid of all community resources, Dr. Banay said.

Punishment alone cannot prevent crime, he declared, and psychotherapy alone is no "magic wand" to prevent crime.

Reporting a five-year study of 50 serious delinquents and criminals who were given total treatment including careful search for physical ailments and their correction, Dr. Banay said 30 have remained law-abiding four to five years since their treatment was stopped. Without such treatment, some 60 per cent probably would have committed new crimes, he said.

Dr. Banay urged establishment of more complete diagnostic and treatment centers for law breakers and long-term, individualized treatment to discover physical ailments as well as give psychiatric and other treatments.

He said he believes juvenile crimes are becoming more violent perhaps because we are living in violent, fearful, insecure times with threats of war and atomic bombings.

This seems to be "mobilizing more aggression in the young than can be dissipated through sports or other activities."

Dr. Banay now is medical director of the Civic Clinic in Brooklyn, N. Y.

373 X-Rayed At Tobyhanna And Depot

A total 373 Monroe County residents received free chest X-rays yesterday in the third day of the mass X-ray program.

Sponsored by the Monroe County Medical Society, the program has now given X-rays to 1,443 county residents—578 the first day; 492 the second.

At Tobyhanna's Coolbaugh Township School building, where the X-ray unit stopped yesterday morning, 43 students and community residents were X-rayed.

In Tobyhanna village, the mobile unit provided 107 more free X-rays to residents of the community during the morning.

Yesterday afternoon, the mobile unit moved to the Tobyhanna Signal Depot. A total 223 employees were X-rayed there.

The unit will stop at the depot all day today.

Officials working with the program last night again issued a plea to residents to observe several simple rules to help the program along:

Dress simply, wear a shirt or blouse with few buttons, do not wear jewelry, fill out the X-ray registration card ahead of time.

This is the three-day schedule for the mobile unit the remainder of the week:

Today—At the Tobyhanna Signal Depot all day.

Friday—At Wyckoff's Department Store, Stroudsburg, all day for the community. These separate sessions: 11:30 a. m. to 1:30 p. m.; 2:30 to 5:30 p. m. and from 7 to 9 p. m.

Saturday—At the East Stroudsburg Municipal Building all day, for the community. Three sessions. From 10 a. m. to noon; from 2 to 5 p. m. and from 7 to 9 p. m.

Victor Koch Advanced By Chemical Co.

Victor Koch was advanced from assistant engineer to engineer of Chemical Co., No. 1, Stroudsburg Fire Dept., last night.

Koch will fill the vacancy caused by the death of Paul Roth who had filled the position a number of years. Ralph Roth, brother of Paul, was elected assistant engineer.

Tribute was paid the deceased officer for his long and valued service and devotion to duty.

Stroudsburg fire department was kept very much on the run during April, having answered nine alarms, including one from Stroud Twp., during the month.

The department was called out 19 times during the first quarter. There were two alarms in January, three in February and five in March in addition to the nine April alarms.

Stanley Heller reported on the success of the recent department dance. It was brought out quite a number of persons who received tickets have not responded. The committee reported it would like to hear from them.

The Monroe County Firemen's Assn. will meet at the quarters of West End Fire Co., Brodheads-ville, Thursday, May 13, at 8 p. m. Representatives from all five companies in the county are urged to be represented, according to Charles Degen, secretary.

Woman Leaves Small Estate

A small estate in personal property was left by Amy B. Zabriskie, 84, of 551 Thomas St., Stroudsburg, according to wills probated yesterday at the office of Register Floyd Butz.

Mrs. Zabriskie died April 17. She left her estate to her husband, Abram J., according to the will. Letters testamentary were granted to him.

Bender, Sparkman Victors In Only Contested Races For Senate Nominations

By The Associated Press

Sen. John J. Sparkman (D-Ala.) and Rep. George H. Bender (R-Ohio) held clear victories today in the only contested races for senatorial nominations in Tuesday's primary elections.

Incumbent House members with one exception also emerged victorious in their races as five states—Alabama, Ohio, Florida, Indiana and New Mexico—picked candidates for four governorships, three Senate seats and 53 places in the House of Representatives.

The exception was Rep. Robert Crosser, 79, a Cleveland, Ohio, Democrat who trailed former City Judge Charles A. Vanik by about 450 votes. Except for two terms, Crosser has served continuously in the House since 1913.

Sparkman, the 1952 Democratic vice presidential nominee, successfully overcame charges by two of his three opponents that in the 1952 race he had tried to "carry water on both shoulders" on the issue of civil rights. He polled 55 per cent of the total Democratic vote to win renomination which is tantamount to election in Alabama.

Sparkman was running more than 95,000 votes ahead of his nearest opponent, Rep. Laurie C. Battle, who sought to move into the Senate after four terms in the House.

Bender, a House member for 14 years, outdistanced William Saxbe, Mechanicsburg attorney and Ohio house speaker, for the Republican nomination to the remaining two years of the term of the late Robert A. Taft.

Bender will oppose Sen. Thomas A. Burke, former Cleveland mayor who is filling Taft's place by appointment, in the November election against Gov. Edwin Mechem, who was unopposed for the Republican senatorial nomination.

Florida's principal contest was for a two-year unexpired term as governor, but a May 25 runoff primary will be needed to determine the result.

Acting Gov. Charley E. Johns and State Sen. Leroy Collins led the three-man race for the Democratic nomination but neither polled a majority of the vote. The winner will oppose J. Tom Watson, former Democratic state attorney general, who won the Republican nomination. Florida is heavily Democratic.

In Alabama, former Gov. James E. (Kissing Jim) Folsom won a clear majority over six opponents for the Democratic nomination for governor, tantamount to election. His tally was nearly double that of his nearest opponent.

In Ohio, the candidates for governor were chosen without opposition. They are incumbent Frank J. Lausche, Democrat, and Republican James A. Rhodes, state auditor and former Columbus mayor.

In New Mexico, Alvin Stockton, a stockman and legislator from Raton, defeated Socorro Mayor Holm O. Bursum for the Republican nomination for governor. John F. Starns Jr., Albuquerque lawyer, was unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

The handwriting of the first Queen Elizabeth of England was all but illegible.

Heart Attack Claims Life Of Woman, 71

Mrs. Jennie D. Dorshimer, 71, died at 10 p. m. Tuesday in General Hospital. She was hospitalized at 3 p. m. after she was stricken by a heart attack in downtown Stroudsburg while shopping.

A lifelong resident of Appenzell, she was a member of Reformed Church there and the PO of A in Tannersville.

Surviving are her husband, Benjamin, at home; one daughter, Mrs. Arthur Fritz, Dover, N. J.; one grand-daughter, two sisters, Mrs. R. B. Heller, and Mrs. Clark Rash, Nazareth.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. at Gantzhorn funeral home, Tannersville. Interment will be made in Appenzell Cemetery. Rev. Foose will officiate. Friends may call at the funeral home Friday after 7 p. m.

Reports Slated For Presentation

East Stroudsburg lodge of Elks will meet tonight at 8 at the home in East Stroudsburg. Various reports will be submitted, George H. Costenbader, exalted ruler, said last night. There will be entertainment following the business session.

Mature ticks and mites have eight legs.

Boy Scouts Prepare For Camporee

Plans for the June 12-13 county Boy Scout "Camporee" at Camp Mina, Pocono Pines are now nearing completion.

All troops in the area are invited to participate. Jacob Kintz is in charge of the camporee.

Other Scouting activity in Monroe this week:

A new troop is being organized at Middle Smithfield Presbyterian Church, Marshalls Creek.

The final two cub leaders training course sessions will be held May 11 and 18 at East Stroudsburg Lutheran Church under direction of Dr. T. Edward Terrill. Another meeting was held last night.

Scouting executive Walter S. Culpepper Jr., Easton, announced this week that the Pocono district was the only district in the Delaware Valley Area Council to reach a membership goal.

Kiwanis Club Host To Seven From Scranton

Scranton day was observed by the Stroudsburg Kiwanis Club at the Penn-Stroud Hotel yesterday afternoon.

A delegation of seven members from the Electric City club were guests and presented the program under the direction of Wilmer Francis, a past president.

Dr. C. W. Dupee, Stroudsburg president, welcomed the visitors and turned over the meeting to Francis. John P. Rawson, a former Stroudsburg member, gave the invocation.

John Von Berger, former newspaper man and present news commentator on Station WARM, Scranton, was the guest speaker. Talking for his subject, "Humor Behind the News," he related numerous experiences in both fields and told stories which proved amusing.

Bill "Lee" Morris led the singing with Numa J. Snyder at the piano. The Scranton group presented a Welsh song.

Others in the Scranton group were: Dr. J. M. White, J. L. Neiger and Robert Snyder.

Bill Shuler, member of the Bowling Green, Ohio, club for 25 years, was also welcomed as a guest.

Stroudsburg was invited to meet with Scranton June 9, when Ken May, of York, a former Pennsylvania District president, will be the speaker.

President Dupee welcomed back Robert A. Bixler from Florida and Russell Harmon from Newland, N. C.; Henry Tucker from his European trip; Robert R. Hellmann, who had been ill and Herbert B. Crane.

A card was received from Dr. C. S. Flagler who at the time was in the Smoky Mountains of Kentucky.

A delegation of Stroudsburg club will visit the Allentown organization Thursday noon of next week.

To Mother

Bless her heart . . . and what a flood of memories that word brings. In all the world there is no name so precious, no love so deep, no faith more abiding.

And today, as guardian of the family pocketbook her slender shoulders bear a burden in a way most men envy.

We're proud of any help we can give to Mother. Remember, it's HER day next Sunday.

Scout Post Gives Report Of Activities

Official review of Explorer Post 98, Boy Scouts of America, was held this week at Grace Lutheran Church.

Victor Hoehne, Pocono District commissioner, was in charge. A total of 22 boys are registered in the post. Six of these are Eagle Scouts, two hold "life ranks" and five hold "star ranks."

During the past year the post planted 7,000 trees in a conservation project above the Promised Land area. Members also assisted in local community projects, including the Mother's March on Polo.

One member of the post, Bruce Hoffman, was area chief of the Order of the Arrow. Hoffman recently presided at an area meeting at Camp Achaela, Wilkes-Barre. He was regional representative at the national meeting in St. Louis along with Bennie Hartman, another post member.

Five members, all Eagle Scouts, went to Camp Philmont, N. M., on a tour arranged by E. H. Wyckoff. One member attended the national jamboree at Santa Ana, Calif.

Seven of the post members intend to make a trip to Washington, D. C., on May 14, 15 and 16 at the invitation of the U. S. Air Force.

John A. Wagner is the institutional representative for the troop. Post committee members are Clarence H. Strunk, chairman; J. H. Kunkle, David Bernbaum, Andrew Choy, Rev. William Wunder, Charles M. Reid and Herman Meinhardt.

Explorer post adviser is Robert Tough. Assistants are Charles Reid Jr. and Bennie Hartman.

Farmers Warned Hybrid Barberry Causes Stem Rust

Harrisburg (AP)—A State Agriculture Department official warned yesterday that hybrid barberry bushes could cause an upsurge in crop-killing stem rust if allowed to spread.

T. L. Guyton, director of the bureau of plant industry, said the hybrid plants come from crosses between the rust-harboring European variety and the harmless Japanese variety, which is commonly used for ornamentation around homes and farms.

"After expenditure of several millions of dollars of public funds in the eradication of the European barberry from the small grain producing areas of the state, the hybrid barberry plant problem becomes more important," Guyton contended.

Episcopal Men To Convene At Buck Hill

Buck Hill Falls—The sixth annual conference of Bethlehem Episcopal Diocese churchmen will be held Saturday and Sunday at The Inn here.

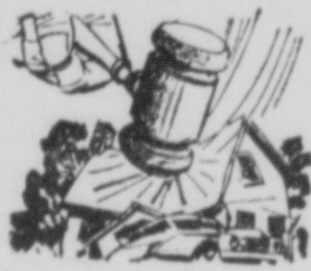

Registration for the two-day meeting will begin at 1 p.m. Saturday. First assembly will be held at 2 p.m. in the Inn's East Room.

Rev. John McG. Krumm will be the principal speaker. His theme will be "The Mission of the Church in the Modern World." Dr. Krumm's address will emphasize the use of the Christian faith as a way of understanding the contemporary world situation.

The conference is designed for laymen of the church in the Bethlehem Diocese. Attending from Christ Church in Stroudsburg will be Dr. Charles Rushmore, Kennard Lewis, Earl Delk and Emerson Rahm.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Donald Storm

Miss Matlock Is Bride Of R. D. Storm

Miss Eleanor Mary Matlock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Matlock of 66 South Kistler St., East Stroudsburg, became the bride of Richard Donald Storm, son of Mrs. Almeta Storm of Pocono Summit, at 6 on Monday night before the miniature candle-lit altar in the parsonage of Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg. The double-ring ceremony was solemnized by Rev. William F. Wunder, Grace Church pastor.

Herbert LaBar, uncle of the bride, served as best man. The bridegroom's mother was matron-of-honor. The bride was attired in a blue nylon street length dress with white accessories and wore an orchid and lilac corsage. The matron of honor wore a scarlet gabardine street length dress with black accessories and also wore an orchid and lilac corsage.

The bride attended E. Stroudsburg High School, and the bridegroom attended Pocono High School and was employed by La-Bar's Rhododendron Nursery prior to his enlistment in the United States Marines last December 5. He presently is stationed at the U. S. Marine Base in Quantico, Virginia.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held for the bride party at the Craigs Meadows Hotel. The bride will temporarily reside with her parents until her husband's tenure of service in the Armed Forces is completed.

Also witnessing the wedding were the bride's mother, Mrs. Harry Matlock; Mrs. Dollie Palmer, Mrs. Mary Miller and Mrs. Ruth Lamb.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

The town took on a familiar look today with all our travelers home from Europe, and not looking a bit sorry to be back, either. From all accounts they all had a wonderful time.

Though the first thing each of them mentioned was Walter Wyckoff's terrible cold. But he never thought his cold would be of more interest to the party than the Eiffel tower or Blarney Castle.

And the next thing they told about was the weather, which was cold with the blossoms in Paris considering crawling back in their beds. With our own chattering teeth yesterday morning and our own inclination to crawl back in our beds, we could sympathize, huh?

However, other than that, they had experiences to relate that will probably take the rest of the year to catch up on. And they looked wonderful. And so familiar that you almost took them for granted.

Somewhat this Springtime has fled so fast that it scarcely seems possible that it was so long since we saw them before. Now while they were gone, we—well, what did we do? We were awfully busy, but doing what? Whatever it was, the results aren't showing on the surface, anyway.

Listen To Bobby Westbrook daily, Monday through Friday, on "The Party Line" WVPO, 10:15 a.m.

Dandelions are so called because the edges of the leaves are cut into large teeth which are said to resemble the teeth of a lion.

Strosahl Is President Of Association

Mount Pocono — With Mrs. Norman May presiding, open house was held at the monthly meeting of the Parent Teachers Association on Thursday night at the school with a large attendance. Children's work of all grades was displayed by the teachers, Mrs. Christine Reese and Mrs. Mary Brodell.

The attendance banner was awarded to the upper grades. The nominating committee: Mrs. Nina Morrison, John Plevyak and Mrs. Lucille Sames presented the slate of officers for the coming year.

Joseph Strosahl was elected president; Mrs. Marion Carey, vice president; Mrs. Barbara Richter, secretary; Mrs. Evelyn Barker, treasurer.

The money acquired at the recent bake sale at Wyckoff's enabled the association to pay off the debt of the library.

The June meeting will be held on the last Thursday of the month. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Jeanette Walker, Mrs. Bessie Brennan, Mrs. Edna Macbel, Mrs. Evelyn Parker and Mrs. Jennie Battisto.

Tea Is Held For Mrs. Dixon

18-TEA IS HELD Social Milford—The home of Mrs. James Bryce, 203 West Warford St., Milford, was filled with flowers for the tea given in honor of Mrs. Gaynelle Dixon, president of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women, on Sunday afternoon. Hostesses were members of the executive board of the Pike County Council.

Mrs. J. Russell Eshback, Mrs. August Metz, Mrs. Ralph Dodd and Mrs. John C. Tew presided at the tea table. There were about 100 guests present, and they spread to the porch and the walled garden.

In addition to Mrs. Dixon, who is a candidate in the state primary for the office of secretary of internal affairs, guests included Miss Sarah Kulp, executive secretary of the state council; Mrs. Chantler, finance chairman; and Mrs. Meade DeWeller, state membership chairman.

Junior Women Adopt Day Care Center As Project; Mrs. Mikels New President

The Day Care Center will be the major beneficiary from the Junior Women's Club activities next year, the members decided at the annual business meeting held on Tuesday night at the Stroud Community House. Money for this project will be raised by "project teams" of club members who may choose their own methods of raising money.

The club will also continue its contributions to other welfare work, with the Christmas dance and perhaps other features, although the members voted not to sponsor any "big" project this year comparable to the "Follies of '53" or the Fashion Show of previous years.

Officers guiding the club through the next year were elected with Mrs. Warren Mikels as president; Mrs. Elwood German, first vice president; Mrs. Richard MacDonough, second vice president; Mrs. Robert Bixler, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Charles Boltz, recording secretary, and Mrs. William Pipher, treasurer.

Mrs. Mikels and Mrs. German will represent the club at the state convention in Philadelphia, May 17 and 18, it was announced.

Mrs. John Sibley, retiring president, presided at the meeting which featured reports by the chairmen of all standing committees on the varied club activities during the year. Outstanding was the report of the Welfare committee of which Mrs. Chester S. Miller was chairman.

The club raised $1,208.74 for welfare work during the past year. The major item was the contribution of $912.14 for the YMCA building fund, raised through the "Follies." The second largest contribution was $135 presented to the Children's Aid Society for gifts to the individual wards of the society at Christmas time. This has been an annual project of the club.

Other contributions included Korea $10, Stamps for Veterans, $10 and 620 stamps; Pennsylvania Retarded Children, $20; Day Care Center, $20; Cancer Society, $20; Community Chest, $25; Tuberculosis Society, $10; Red Cross, $10; March of Dimes, $25; Monroe Clothing Inc., $10; Ann Logan, $1.60.

In addition the members rendered individual service in the various drives, and had as a year-round project, monthly delivery of homemade cookies to the County Home, and greeting cards to the individuals living there on holidays and their own birthdays. In addition, the members stuffed and addressed 12,000 envelopes for the March of Dimes.

The membership showed a gain of 18 new members during the past year, the establishment of devotions as a part of each club program, and other club activities. Reporting were Mrs. Russell Boekenkroeger, American Home; Mrs. Elmer Rinehart, American; Mrs. John Muller and Mrs.

Charles DePue Is Honored On First Birthday

Mount Pocono—Charles Edward DePue Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles DePue Sr., of Grange Road, Mount Pocono, celebrated his second birthday on May 1 with a party at his home. The table had been set up on the lawn, with the centerpiece including three large birthday cakes baked and decorated by Mrs. DePue.

Games were played and the children enjoyed party hats and horns. Charles received many gifts. Ice cream, cake, punch and candy were served to the following: Stephen and Stephany Atkins, Philip and Phyllis Koerner, Gary and Michael Siff, Gail and Stephan Cramer, Douglas Bessecker, Michael Cook, Nancy and Bonnie Randolph, Charles and his sisters, Betty and Nancy.

Bobbie Franklin and Sammy Goll had also been invited but were unable to attend.

Adults attending were: Mrs. John Atkins, Mrs. Silas Randolph, Mrs. George Koerner, Mrs. Ted Bessecker, Mrs. Horace Stiff Jr., Mrs. Clyde Cramer, Mrs. Charles, Mrs. Spindler and Mrs. Hugo Schumacher and the hostess.

Cut to the quick, that's what I am! Even though they may be correct, it wasn't very nice of the credit office girls to address this month's bill to "Madaly Maloney," do you think? Bill Wells agrees with me — "They can't mean you, now can they?" He sympathizes, "so I'd just refuse to pay." ... Bill has a very good reason for Commiserating with me. He wants me to mention Fur Storage. This is the time for it, you know, what with all the little moths just waiting to sink their gums (or whatever) into some toothsome tidbit like Persian trimmed with mink. Wonder what a moth considers the perfect diet? Maybe wool underwear for breakfast; a squirrel cape for lunch, and a mink stole for dinner, with plenty of muskrat nibbling in between. Frankly, I know very little about moths, except that they can go through your treasures faster than most of us can run through a week's pay, and they're darned expensive. When you know that, it isn't important just when or how they work their mischief — the only important consideration is how to prevent it. Fur storage is one way, of course. And Bill Wells tells me that ours is the least expensive storage service in town, yet we offer complete protection and assure a happy reunion with your possessions when they are once again in season. Call our fashion departments today, and ask for particulars... Back to Nature — that's what we are today, as we glance from our kitchen window. Three fat pigeons are trotting along playing as neat a game of ball with a chunk of bread as you would see on a well-organized playground, and Mother informs me that I just missed seeing "probably the ugliest rabbit ever born", hopping around by the fence. Next thing we'll be on speaking terms with raccoons, rattlesnakes, and all the other wild creatures to which Mabel Anderson is a regular "little mother". ... Too bad I didn't think to mention it earlier, but "Stillmeadow and Sugarbridge", a Lippincott publication, is one of the most delightful books I've ever read, and would be the perfect Mother's Day gift for many mothers. It isn't fiction — it's just a series of letters exchanged between two lovely old homes by two women — Gladys Taber and Barbara Webster — who find joy in many things, from milk glass pitchers and old blue bushes, to fresh new vegetables, cocker spaniels and Great Danes. The descriptions are beautiful; the philosophy something to return to time and again, as a relief from the McCarthy hearings and the turmoil in Indo-China. You know Gladys Taber for her "Diary of Domesticity", a Ladies' Home Journal feature for many years, and you may have read Mrs. Webster's earlier books including "Horse of Her Own." It's too late to order this now for Mother's Day giving, but chances are you could still order it for your own companion in every-day living... Have you seen the new shipment of ware from Israel in our center aisle? One much-discussed, long-spouted container arrived under the guise of a "coffee server," but Anna Haller and I vow that it's meant for oil. Any way you look at it, it's beautifully decorative — but my coffee tastes call for those big, outside "Mom" and "Pop" cups — not thimbles. Were I to buy an oil container, nothing would suit me better than this. But if I wanted a coffee server, I'd select one of those twelve cup coffee bottles. Doubtless you would also... I'm reminded of the title "Oil for the Lamps of China" whenever I see the precious little oil-burning lamps of brass and copper in our gift department. Some are just about six inches high and may be hung on the wall against shining reflectors. Others stand. Fill them with kerosene and they're ready to go into service on a moment's notice. When not working, they look shiniest adorable. We've sold a number of these as gifts for the mother "who has everything"... Met Bob Ainspach — of the U. S. Army — in our Beauty Salon where he greeted his Dad on arrival here the other morning. Bob's lost some 30 pounds, which makes one wonder why the government doesn't sell its formula to the overweight female population.

Scholarships Awarded In GOPEssay Contest; Cash Award Winners Announced

Miss Jane Slutter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl J. Slutter, of 99 Lackawanna Ave., East Stroudsburg, and a senior at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, won the $1,200 scholarship to the University of Pennsylvania, offered by Senator Montgomery F. Crowe as the first prize in the county-wide essay contest sponsored by the Monroe Council of Republican Women.

Second prize, a $400 scholarship to Penn State University, presented by Gov. John S. Fine, was won by Miss Marilyn Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Miller Jr., of Pocono Summit, and a senior at Tobyhanna Township High School.

Miss Slutter is in the band, chorus and mixed ensemble in East Stroudsburg High School. She also takes an active part in sports and is majorette for the school. She took part in both the junior and senior plays at the school, and is in the upper fifth of her class and taking the academic course. Her father is the principal of the Belvidere Elementary School in Belvidere, N. J.

Miss Miller took part in both the senior and junior plays, the operettas given at the school, has been art editor of the school paper for two years and served as class officer.

Additional cash awards were given to other high-ranking essays, Mrs. J. Russell Custard, originator and chairman of the teen-age contest announced.

Graham Andoe, who won the title of Mr. Republican in the practical politics section of the contest, also won the first cash award of $25 presented by B. K. Williams. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Graham Andoe, and a senior at Barrett High School.

Richard Graeber, a senior at Pocono Township High School, won the second cash award of $20 presented by Tom Rogers. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Graeber.

Third cash award went to Miss Zoe Machamer, a junior at Tobyhanna Township High School. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Machamer, of Pocono Pines. The prize of $15 was presented by Adolph Rake.

Third cash award winner was Jane Bessecker of Pocono Township High, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bessecker. John Shotwell contributed her $10 award.

Married Couples Meet Tonight

The Married Couples group of the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church will meet tonight at 8:30 at Wyckoff's Recreation Rooms in Stroudsburg.

During the business meeting officers will be elected for the coming year. Refreshments and entertainment are planned for the social time afterwards.

Mrs. Friedman Honored By Sisterhood

Mrs. William Friedman was the surprised guest of honor at the "This is Your Life" program presented at the meeting of the Sisterhood of the Temple Israel on Tuesday night at the Temple.

Under the direction of Mrs. Jules Steinberg, social director, the highlights of Mrs. Friedman's life in this community, in club and charity work and music were given. Mrs. Wilma Rogalski, Mrs. Edith Quick and Mr. Friedman were among those to pay tribute to her. She was presented with a corsage.

During the business meeting Mrs. William Brown was elected president of the organization with Mrs. Ben Howitt, vice president; Mrs. Jules Steinberg, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Henry Reader, treasurer; Mrs. Max Cohen, secretary; and Mrs. David Bernbaum, financial secretary.

Refreshments were served after the meeting by the hostesses, Mrs. Verna Silverman, Mrs. Sumar Schwartz, Mrs. Dora Kushner, and Mrs. Kurt Phillipsburg.

Here's a simple but attractive way to decorate a cake for a child's birthday party. Arrange frosted animal crackers around the top edge of the frosted cake and place birthday candles inside the circle.

Box Social Saturday In Paradise

Swiftwater—The Paradise Parent-Teachers Association has scheduled its box social for Saturday night at 8 at the school.

The public is invited to attend and each woman guest is asked to bring a box lunch packed for two, which she will share with the one who purchases the box at auction. The boxes should be marked as to whether they have been packed by an adult or a child.

In addition to the box social, there will be cake walks and dancing.

Mothers Day Plans For Bartonsville

Bartonsville—The Bible study at the meeting of the Crusader Class of St. John's Lutheran Church was based on the theme "Nothing Supersedes the Word of God" and was led by Rev. John B. Bergstresser. Kathryn Metzgar read the Scripture.

At the meeting, held at the parish house, final plans were made for the Mother's Day service sponsored annually by the class to be held at St. John's Church on May 9 at 8 p.m. The class will present gifts to the oldest and youngest mothers present as well as to the mother who had the most children attending the service with her, the mother coming the longest distance to attend, and the youngest grandmother.

Refreshments were served after the meeting by the hostesses, Mrs. Verna Silverman, Mrs. Sumar Schwartz, Mrs. Dora Kushner, and Mrs. Kurt Phillipsburg.

Mrs. Haviland Heller and Mrs. Joseph Dunbar were appointed to purchase awards. Carl Cyphers and Thomas Field were selected junior ushers for the service.

It was announced that $35 had been turned over to Lutheran World Action as a result of the Easter dawn service on Hawkes-hill. The collection amounted to $47.30 and from that bulletins and the amplifying system were paid for, leaving the balance of $35.

Reports were also given on the recent products party and the cooking demonstration and auction. These sums were added to the church furnace fund, which now totals $234.80.

Refreshments were served from a table decorated with Spring flowers. Those attending were Rev. John B. Bergstresser, Mr. and Mrs. Haviland Heller, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bond, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Cyphers, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Field, Mrs. Joseph Dunbar, Mrs. Beatrice Swink, Kathryn Metzgar, Emma Dunbar, Ronald Swink and John Field. Hostesses were Ruth and Emma Dunbar.

Board Meets Tonight

The executive board of the East Stroudsburg Women's Society of Christian Service will meet Thursday night at 7 o'clock in the guild room at the church.

Stroudsburg High came up with more hits in yesterday's tussle with Whitehall than in any Lehigh Valley League game thus far this season, but it was still only four, two by Dick "Pickles" Hintze and one each by Paul "Doc" Lim and Karl Weingartner. Dick Shuster has pitched well enough to win every game thus far this season, but it's still next to impossible to win with the benefit of hits. The Mountaineers no; have a circuit mark of one victory and a pair of defeats.

Warriors Bow In Men's Tennis, 7-2

Rider College scored its second tennis victory over the men of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College yesterday by a 7-2 score. The matches were held on the Normal Hill courts.

The same Rider crew earned an 8-1 verdict over the Warriors earlier in the campaign.

Ed Torres got the visiting crew off to a flying start by beating ESSTC's Don Toth, 6-3, 6-4, but Lee Hill came back to put the home team on an even footing with a 6-4, 6-4 verdict over Ralph Pierce. Ray Richter put Rider ahead to stay in the third singles with a 7-5, 6-4 nod over Tom Rotell.

Same Trend

Don Wardman gave Rider another win with a 6-4, 6-3 nod over Earl Pfeiffer, while Jerry Lutz, also a member of the visiting contingent, took the measure of John Wood, 7-5, 6-1. Lacey Bradshaw, Rider, wound up the singles action with a 6-2, 6-4, win over Bill Booth.

Rider swept the first two doubles matches as Richter and Wardman over Toth and Bob Durkin, 6-3, 6-0, and Pierce and Bradshaw combined to upend Pfeiffer and Hill, 6-0, 6-3.

ESSTC won the last doubles match, 6-3, 6-3, as Wood and Mike Soltycs combined to clip Dick Duncan and Dick Kuhn.

Molinas Carries Status To Court

New York (AP)—Jack Molinas, the rangy ex-Columbia star who was suspended from the Fort Wayne Pistons of the National Basketball Association for betting on his team, yesterday filed a motion in Bronx Supreme Court seeking to enjoin Maurice Podoloff, NBA president, from keeping him on the suspended list.

Argument

Last January 9, a Bronx grand jury refused to indict Molinas although it developed that Molinas had placed bets through a Bronx friend.

Meyer Silences Chicago's Home Run Bats For Dodgers

Chicago (AP)—Brooklyn's Russ Meyer "de-homered" Chicago with a shut-out six-hitter yesterday, taming his old Cub mates for the 11th straight time as the Dodgers won their first 1954 Wrigley Field appearance, 7-0.

Former Cub Meyer held the Bruins without a home run in a game for the first time this season. The Cubs had homered 28 times in 13 previous games.

Lab Pupils Mix Music With Fun

State Teachers College laboratory pupils set out to prove that "Music Is Fun" yesterday morning.

In a program designed to show the humorous aspects of classroom musical projects, the pupils filled the campus auditorium with novelty tunes saluting everything from "tadpoles" to the "Erie Canal."

The program opened with the kindergarten class illustrating "singing games" under direction of Marie C. Brown, their teacher.

Selections included "Up in a Swing," "Pop! Goes the Weasel" and "Daisy Bell." Student teachers were Shirley Toms, Peggy Lintner, and Marie Ihnat.

First graders, directed by Helen Booth and student teachers Nancy Delly, Marcia Pfefferstein and Betty Mininger, told how to have "Fun With Rhythm Instruments." Tunes were "Row, Row, Row Your Boat," "Three Blind Mice," "Santa Lucia," "Weasel" and "The Farmer in the Dell."

"Rhythmic Fun" was the topic for second graders under direction of Rose Meckel and student teachers Joan Williams and Shirley Williams. One song — on "Bluebirds" — and a series of rhythm impressions of chickens, squirrels, raindrops and airplanes made up the program.

Third graders, with Winona Cary and Ruth Zettlemoyer as teachers and Margaret Fertick and Elaine Shirey as student teachers, presented a program of "Spring Music." Selections were "There Came To My Window," "Springtime," "Tadpoles," "Heel and Toe" and "America the Beautiful."

Grade four, with Catherine A. Reinhard as teacher and Alice Asarian, Geraldine Lister and Edmund Jago as student teachers, prepared a selection of "Pennsylvania Music." Included were "I'm Happy," "Pennsylvania," "Beautiful Dreamer" and "Johnny Schmoker."

"Playing and Singing" was the theme of the fifth grade with Josephine B. Kerns as teacher and George Colonius, Lloyd Newbaker and George Waters as student teachers. Numbers were "Mary Had A Little Lamb," "Cuckoo," "Old Grey Goose," "A Duet" and "Old MacDonald."

Sixth graders concentrated on the theme, "We Like To Play" under direction of Marvin Burrus with student teachers Leonard Tolan, John Lambert, Donald Williams.

Selections were "Aida" by Kathleen Poortstra, "Artist's Life" by Judy Miller, "The Wild Horsemen" by Susan Harlaeher and "The Marine's Hymn" by Lucille Frable, all piano solos; "There's Music In the Air," "Long, Long Ago," "Lightly Row," "Abide with Me," "Polly Wolly Doodle" and "America."

Clement Wiedinmyer is supervisor of music at the campus laboratory school. A large group of parents and friends attended the concert.

JOHNNY PULPYTEL, 10, passes searching fingers over the face of Emmett Kelly, the famed melancholy clown, at a special performance of Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey circus, New York. The blind boy was one of 15,000 handicapped and underprivileged children who filled Madison Square Garden for the benefit show.

Bands Combine For Concerts

Kresgeville—Combined bands of Chestnut Hill and Polk Township schools will present two concerts in the West End this week.

Tonight the group will entertain at Chestnut Hill school in Brodheadsville and tomorrow in Polk school here. Concerts are listed for 8 p.m.

Fred Whitman of Chestnut Hill school will direct the first portion of the program by the band with Edmund Kozlowski of Polk school in charge of the final presentation. Junior chorus of Polk directed by Kozlowski will sing three selections and the combined Senior chorus directed by Whitman also will give a trio of songs.

Bettie George and Jean Kresge, student leaders, will direct the band in two selections near the end of the program.

Traffic Safety Conference For Young Drivers Slated Friday At Teachers College

Friday has been set aside as "Teen-Age Traffic Safety Conference Day" at State Teachers College.

For the first time in the history of Pennsylvania, a State-wide conference series has been scheduled on that day. All are slanted at teenagers and young drivers specifically.

The day-long session at the East Stroudsburg college begins at 9:30 a. m., with registration in the lobby of the campus auditorium. A general assembly will open at 10 a. m.

Dr. Joseph F. Noonan, college president, will welcome the delegates. General Chairman Howard DeMike, traffic safety instructor at the college, will preside of the sessions.

DeMike will introduce the teenage chairman for the conference. Named to this position is Frank Ciofalo, East Stroudsburg High School senior. Ciofalo will describe the basic purposes of the conference and introduce two tape recorded greetings from Gov. John S. Fine and Dr. Francis B. Haas, State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Also cooperating with DeMike in planning the conference, in addition to Ciofalo, have been the following representatives from local schools:

Carl Secor and Jack Kist, East Stroudsburg High School; T. Manning Curtis and George Metropoulos, Stroudsburg High School; Mrs. Dorothy Dallabrida and Casper Rohland, from the traffic safety course taught by DeMike; Suzanne Dimmick, East Stroudsburg High School student and Mildred Kulp, Stroudsburg High School student.

Beginning at 10:45 a. m. the teenagers will hear a series of discussion (by groups) on these varied subjects:

Driver licensing and traffic laws; "Hot Rods" and "Drag Strips"; "Parents, Teen-Agers and the Use of the Family Car"; "Pedestrians, Bicyclists and Accident Repeaters"; "Driver Education and Training Courses and Records of Teen-Agers and Other Age Groups of Drivers."
